Press Release

Gaithersburg, MD, November 2013: Optical Scientific Inc. (OSi) announces the AWS-432 Automated Weather Observing System (AWOS). OSi has been a supplier of visibility and present weather sensors for AWOS applications for decades. Now OSi is a supplier of the complete AWOS system. OSi's AWS-432 AWOS is an advanced/best-value Automated Weather Observing System built around the OWI-430. The AWS-432 uses proven Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) weather algorithms.. Data reporting is by Ethernet or wireless connections. Multi-lingual voice reporting by radio, VOIP, cell, or land line is also available.

OSi is the clear leader in optical present weather/visibility sensor technology for over two decades, selling mainly to system integrators. Now the entire OSi AWOS is being sold directly to system installers and end users. By providing the complete system, OSi ensures customer satisfaction, system reliability, and unprecedented customer technical support.
